ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The server comprises deal data registration function, deal data analyzing function, deal data retrieval function and message transmission function, and is accessible to the deal DB.   The server

5   registers deal data given by the sales agent to the deal DB deal by deal, and analyzes the registered data to determine whether predetermined data items necessary for recognizing the deal status are failed or not.   The server retrieves deal data record in which the necessary data items are failed, and prepares a message asking the 10   sales agent to collect the failed information from the customer, and transmits it to the sales agent concerned.